Case Study

The "mobile" solution to your security needs

A high quality, user-friendly security system offering a cost effective, extremely flexible solution for the capture, distribution and access of remote monitoring images.

Store-age 4 Storage operate a secure self store facility from a large warehouse in the Scottish Borders providing clients with their own individual units within the one building.

Flexible access to the facility is provided by a remote entry control system that allows customers to gain access to their storage units during periods when unmanned or outwith working hours. In order to provide management with the capability to remotely supervise activity within the facility during the unmanned periods a Fonecam system from Justfone was deployed

The system provides 24 x 7 access to the sites network of cameras either over the internet or mobile phone. The flexibility of the mobile phone system, in particular, has allowed management or on-call staff to effectively monitor activity within and adjacent to the facility regardless of where they are.

The simple WAP interface allows secure viewing of real-time or historically stored images from any of the sites cameras. The added functionality of SMS alerting and image forwarding to on-call mobile phones in the event of any unauthorised access or activity has also proved to be an invaluable tool

Mr Douglas, Managing Director of Store-age 4 Storage said, "In 2005 I needed a remotely operated system to open and close doors, monitor intruder sensors and CCTV security cameras - all controllable from my mobile phone or my office PC. I tried a few big security companies in Edinburgh without success but within weeks of approaching a local company I had a CCTV surveillance system installed - all operating from my mobile phone wherever I am in the world. Fonecam is truly fantastic, saves me wages, simplifies management and gives me peace of mind. The system is simple to use and reliable. My advice is get one installed. It is state of the art and extremely helpful. The cost is very reasonable but the saving to my business is almost immeasurable"
